1. Look a - round your fam - ily cir - cle. Are there breaks you ought to mend?
2. Look a - round your in - ner cir - cle. Do the peo - ple you hold dear
3. Look a - round your wid - est cir - cle. Does a bi - ased pat - tern show?
4. You will find an - oth - er cir - cle when you reach your fi - nal home:

Have old quar - rels made you en - e - mies, in - stead of dear - est friends?
know how much you real - ly love them? Have you made that mes - sage clear?
Are some "dif - ferent" folks not good e - nough for you to want to know?
That's the faith - ful, stand - ing hand in hand, a - round the Fath - er's throne.

Then it's time for you to find an ol - ive branch you can ex - tend.
Share their sor - row and their joy; con - fess your bur - dens and your fears;
O - pen up your heart and love them; let your pre - ju - di - ces go,
Eve - ry daugh - ter will be cher - ished, and no son will weep a - lone

Refrain

Let your cir - cle be un - bro - ken once a - gain. There's one bind your cir - cle ev - er clos - er through the years.
 and you'll see how big your cir - cle then can grow!
 in the fam - i - ly of souls he calls his own!

cir - cle won't be bro - ken in days to come, a - bove; that's the fam - ily cir - cle of God. Join your broth - ers and your sis - ters, en - cir - cled by his love, in the ev - er - last - ing fam - i - ly of God!
