

1. Now Sings My Soul a New Song

Linda Bonney Olin, 2017

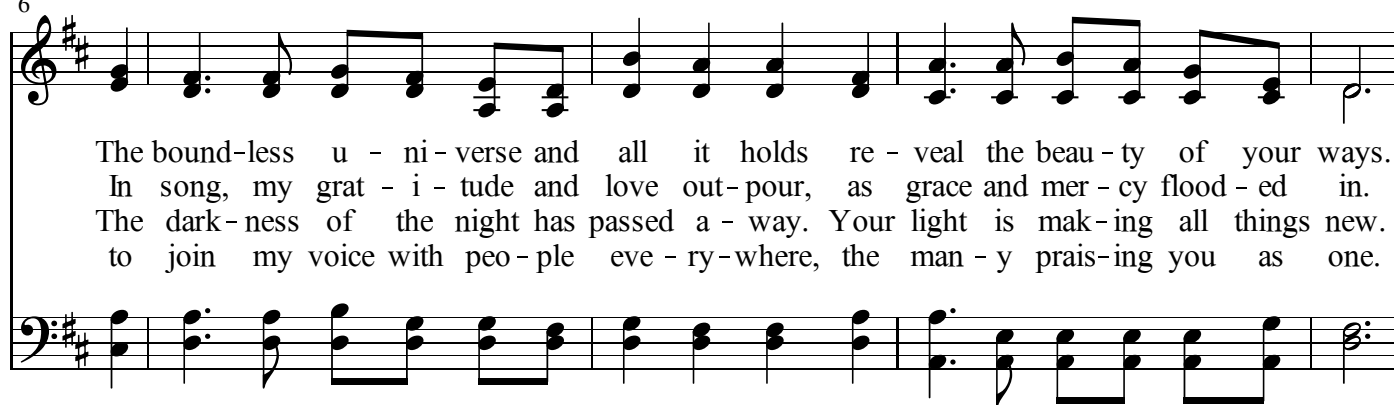

James McGranahan, 1883; arr. by LBO
EL NATHAN, alt.

$\text{♩} = 90$

1. My soul, O Lord, your won-drous work be-holds and sings un-end-ing psalms of praise.
2. My soul, O Lord, is breath-ing free once more, for you un-bur-dened it of sin.
3. My soul, O Lord, cries out in joy to-day! It danc-es in the morn-ing dew.
4. My soul, O Lord, is deep-ly moved to share good news of all your grace has done,

The bound-less u-ni-verse and all it holds re-veal the beau-ty of your ways.
In song, my grat-i-tude and love out-pour, as grace and mer-cy flood-ed in.
The dark-ness of the night has passed a-way. Your light is mak-ing all things new.
to join my voice with peo-ple eve-ry-where, the man-y prais-ing you as one.

11 (Jubilant)

Now sings my soul a new song of ad-o-ra-tion, with all Cre-a-tion.
Now sings my soul a new song, a proc-la-ma-tion of my sal-va-tion.
Now sings my soul a new song, a cel-e-bra-tion of trans-for-ma-tion.
Now sings my soul a new song, an in-vi-ta-tion to con-gre-ga-tion.

16 Refrain

Now sings my soul a new song, yes, a new song for the Lord!
